

New Chip-Sized Stereolithographic 3D Printer

- Developed by MIT and University of Texas at Austin
- Fully contained on a millimeter scale chip with no moving parts
 - Chip emits a configurable hologram to cure the resin

Experimental setup

MIT logo 3D print

