the Restaurant at the End of the Universe

Max Quordlepleen is your host for an evening of fine food, fine wine, and a floorshow featuring the universe as we know it boiling away into the cosmic void.

The restaurant has some of the most staggeringly extravagant decor ever seen, a variety of the strangest guests from throughout history, and serves a particularly fine PanGalactic Gargle Blaster.

Despite the staggering expense of eating there, it remains popular with everyone from disciples of the Great Prophet Zarquon to dead rock stars.

We recommend the steak.
