

Flashers - Stereolithography

Application: Personalized Medicine

- An NIH study fabricated pills of various dosages via stereolithography using a novel photopolymerizable resin formulation based on a monomer mixture
- 28 dosages were fabricated in one print process
- Results: SLA affords accurate printing of dosages but room for improvement exists

Research Article: <https://doi.org/10.3390/pharmaceutics11120645>

Video: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=TuBEfCWj92A>